From the Principal’s Desk

Welcome to week 4 term 3

It has been an interesting couple of weeks so far with lots happening in the way of sports and athletics. A number of our students made it through to the next level which will be held in Gayndah tomorrow. Good luck to all those competing.

We have been monitoring the Olympics at school and are looking at some of the more unusual sports that they have to offer. Some are quite unusual.

Speech writing

Some of our students are in the process of writing a 3 minute speech. They are all doing very well and I am sure they will end up with a great piece of work.

Staffing News

Tomorrow Miss Riggs will be here in my place as I will be having a day with Liz Langford from Head office.

P&C meeting tonight

Notice to all, there will be a P&C meeting tonight at Jasmine Adams at 7pm all welcome.

Head lice

Although we haven’t had any reports of head lice at our school please be aware they are around, so please keep checking.

Dept News

Education and Training information now live on Queensland Government website

Information about the state’s education and training services has now been added to the revamped Queensland Government website. The website is a ‘one-stop shop’ making it easier to find information about Queensland Government services. While our existing school and TAFE websites will continue to provide individual and specific content, the Queensland Government website provides a single access point for broader education and training information.

Research has been undertaken to find out what information Queenslanders need most and how to provide that information in a way that it is easier for people to understand and use.

Tuckshop

Tuckshop this week will be toasted sandwiches, with a piece of slice and a popper. Please pay by Thursday. $4.

Cheers Andrew
