End of term news

This is the end of the term, it’s already week 10. Not long now until Christmas. As this is the last week we will be still doing some school work but we are also going to be doing a few different things as well. We are going to be doing a little bit of cooking and craft, not too sure how much will make it home. Of course it’s all mathematical.

R U OK?

You may have heard in the news lately about the RU OK initiative. It’s about checking on people around you to make sure they are OK. Sometimes people find it hard to ask for help, especially men. Below is part of an article from the Ru OK website.

If your gut says something’s not quite right with someone, chances are that they might need a bit of extra support from the people around them. They might be acting a bit differently, seem to have a lot on their plate, or simply aren’t themselves. Don’t ignore those signs but instead take some time to start a conversation.

One of the great things about asking “are you ok?” is you don’t have to know the answers to a mate’s problems. Nor do you have to be ok yourself. Or feel particularly strong. As long as you feel up to listening, not judging and just talking through stuff you have found useful in the past, you’ve everything it takes to have a meaningful conversation to support a mate in need.

If you are concerned about someone check out this website for some ideas.

Groundsperson Position

We are currently looking for a Grounds person for the school. Duties including mowing, edging and some pruning and gardening. The position is for 5 hours per week with most of the school holidays off. If you are interested please contact myself at the school for a chat to discuss the position.

Today we went to the Mundubbera Art Gallery and Bug for Bugs. Here are a couple of photos.
Well week 10 is here and we are all ready for a nice break. We have had a super term and the kids have learnt so much and hopefully had a lot of fun along the way. It is hard to believe that we have only one more term and the year will be over.

Today we had a visit into the art gallery in Munduberra and a trip to Bugs for Bugs. We had a lot of fun and learnt some interesting facts about how bugs can help our farmers and gardens. We also got the opportunity to see our black and white artwork and mosaics in the art gallery, which was awesome. Every one’s art work looked fantastic, you should all be very proud. A big thank you to the parents who came along for the day, and also for the transport.

This week we are finishing up on our assessments for maths and sight words. Some students are still collecting stickers for our Friday disco and cold rock ice-cream. Keep up the good work and keep doing your homework. Every sticker counts.

Thanks for a wonderful term, and remember whatever you do in your holidays remember to stay safe and have fun. I am looking forward to hearing all the holiday stories when we get back to term 4.

For the last day of term we are having a Free Dress Day. The theme is TROPICAL.

Cheers Angela
